PARCEL POST DOUBLED IN YEAR; ROSES EACH DAY—HUNDRED DOZEN

Postmaster Renders Report on Business for Two Weeks During which Official Count Is Made at All Post Offices.

A healthy infant of two years and three months is the parcel post business. Postmaster S. J. Michelson yesterday gave out some astonishing figures relative to the growth of the Phoenix parcel post business.

Parcel post business is just about double now, what it was one year ago, when the first two weeks' count was made. Every year now, all post-offices count parcels and letters for a period of 15 days, for an official report to the department. Here are some of the statistics.

Phoenix post office handled 20,000 parcels during the fifteen days between April 1 and 16.

Two thousand more went out of Phoenix than arrived here.

Twenty-five thousand letters were mailed out by Phoenixians in the past week.

Twenty-six thousand five hundred were received for local distribution.

Twenty tons of parcels were received and

Eighteen tons sent out in the 15 days of the count.

Strange as it may seem, flowers play an important part in the high development of parcel post business. Phoenix is the hot house of the entire state, and as a conservatory for

FIFTY YEARS WEDDED BLISS

Annual Picnic of W. C. T. U. Occasion for Celebration of Golden Wedding of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Braxton; the Gifts Presented

Yesterday marked a red-letter day for the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. It being the regular time for the annual picnic, Mrs. F. B. Stevens, vice president of the local organization, had invited the membership to partake of her hospitality at her artistic bungalow, 1710 East Madison street, in celebration of the occasion. A large number were present and all thoroughly enjoyed the splendid dinner furnished by the hostess. At its conclusion the opportunity was used to make a double celebration of the occasion by observing the golden anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Braxton, to whom a beautiful gold salad fork was presented in behalf of the W. C. T. U. by Mrs. Imogene F. LaChance, for the following appropriate words:

"The Woman's Christian Temperance Union is often alluded to as 'A Mutual Admiration Society' for the reason that the members are generally loyal and complimentary to each other. This really arises from the fact that it is made up of women who have in a great measure laid aside and are handed together for a noble cause in honor preferring one another. I would prefer the appellation, 'A True Friendship Circle'; for we white-ribboners walk side by side, our hearts linked together in this great effort to ease humanity's burdens.

"We share our mutual woes. Our mutual burdens bear. And often for each other flows, The sympathizing tear.

"We share each other's hopes and joys, and are happy in the success and prosperity of one another while under all and through all is the great motive and incentive that we are not only soldiers, but friends of Him, the friend that sticketh closer than a brother. Today on this happy occasion, in this hospitable home, our hearts turn to one in this 'Friendship Circle.' J. R. Miller says: 'There are friends who are to us like a great rock in a weary land. We flee to them in the heat of parching days and rest in their shadow. A friend in whom we can confide without fear of disappointment; who, we are sure will never fail us, will never stint his (her) love in serving us, who always has healing tenderness for the hurt of our heart, comfort for our sorrow, and cheer for our discouragement.'"

"Such a friend is not only a rock of shelter for us in time of danger, but is also a river of water in a thirsty land, when our hearts cry out life and love. Such a friend is this one whom our circle wishes to honor. Through the kindness of Mrs. J. R. Miller, an organization, that of 'In honor preferring one another,' it is my privilege and pleasure to speak for all on this occasion."

(To Mrs. Braxton.) "Dear friend, for fifty years you and your companion have walked side by side, sometimes in sunshine, sometimes in shadow, and we trust that as the poet says, 'Though the bliss is but alloy' it has been less of pain and more of joy. We feel that together you have made a home of love and safety for all who were sheltered within its walls. We can say of you like the woman in the Bible 'Her price is above rubies and the heart of her husband doth safely trust in her.' We are making use of this delightful occasion to express to you, through I realize that my words are feeble, our sincere appreciation of your faithfulness and sincerity as a friend and member of our affection and we know that you will not estimate the friendship by the value of the gift."

At 2:15 o'clock the regular program was taken up and a most interesting one it proved. After the devotional conducted by Mrs. John Wix Thomas, a number of splendid talks were made, a reading was given by Mrs. Roberts of Globe, which was received by a hearty encore, and a most excellent history of "Easter" was given by Mrs. Wingate, who had charge of the afternoon program. Four o'clock marked the close of a day which will long be a most pleasant memory to all present.

WORKSHOP EVILS WORSE THAN WAR

"War, takes the children's bread, it is a colossal crime against brotherhood." So says Anna Maley, known as the Joan of Arc of Socialism who will lecture at the Monroe school tonight on "Bread and Brotherhood."

Miss Maley who is a gifted speaker has an interesting personality. She has had a varied career from her childhood on a Minnesota farm to the time when as socialist candidate for governor of Washington she polled 10,000 votes. She was jailed in the labor war in West Virginia in 1913, and has had other equally exciting experiences.

She has been a teacher in the Rand School of Social Science in New York and as a writer and organizer has gained no little prominence.

Says Miss Maley: "Not only does life depend upon bread, but most of the people spend most of their time in bread-getting. In a controlling sense labor, the bread-getting process, constitutes life."

"Theoretically the world's desire for many centuries has been toward brotherhood. The battleships of Europe today and the wars of all time are the saddest manifestations of the fact that the world's desire has not been realized."

"Is it too much to say that we must look to the workshop, where most of the people spend most of their lives, for an explanation of all those things that defeat the practice of brotherhood?"

CHECKIST DOES A DUPLICATE

Ramon Limon and A. Aguilar Reproduce Fictitious Check on Glendale Bank at Request of County Attorney.

"Ladies and gentlemen, here you have us sitting in the park at Glendale where we write a small check to which we sign the name of John L. Myer, a well known and highly respected citizen. Next we turn your attention to the Robinson store in Peoria, where the check is turned down. We ask you to follow us on our ride from Peoria back to Glendale where you witness us tearing the check to bits and chewing the pieces. Now we do not swallow them and neither do they turn to golden eggs as we believed, but we are enabled to write an exact duplicate of the check when so requested by County Attorney Gandy."

This slight-of-hand performance led to the arrest of Ramon Limon and A. Aguilar on the charge of forgery yesterday. This is practically the story as told by Limon, who waived examination in Justice Patterson's court and was held to answer to the Superior court. His companion will be given his preliminary examination in the Glendale justice court this morning.

Limon, who has served a term in the state prison for assault with a deadly weapon, it is understood has admitted his connection with the affair. He said he and Aguilar wanted to get rich quick. They had visions of untold wealth that might be theirs if they had the start. Aguilar, he said, wrote out the checks, signing the name of Myer to one and F. J. Jack to the other. It was the Myer's check that Limon attempted to cash at Robinson's and when unsuccessful they thought the wisest course would be to destroy the evidence. The checks were made out on the Glendale bank and as they drove back to Glendale they tore up the one they had endeavored to cash, and chewed the pieces.

"Then we spit it out," he said. After the men had been arrested by Officer Ridd they made out a check that was similar to the one destroyed.

COWPUNCHER'S LAST JOURNEY

(Special to The Republican) GLOBE, April 20.—His horse fired out by a lone hiker, Jeff Markham, well known figure about Globe, and a good cow-puncher, was swept down Salt river and drowned yesterday evening. His body was found today and brought here.

Markham had crossed the ford near the site of the intake dam hundreds of times in his long career as cow hand hereabout. He was getting along in years, having been a familiar figure in Globe for eighteen years. News of the accident was brought here this morning and a search was instituted for his body. It seems he had reached the middle of the stream, which is not much higher than it has often been when considered fordable to horsemen, when the horse lost his footing. Both man and mount were swept downstream, in spite of their desperate efforts.

News of the accident reached The Republican in the form of a rumor the same evening it occurred, but as the phone line is out between the dam and the intake, it was impossible to verify the report. A report of the accident was made to the local reclamation office yesterday morning.

SAGE AND SULPHUR DARKENS GRAY HAIR

Brush this through faded, lifeless locks and they become dark, glossy, youthful.

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value their hair even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture by asking at any drug store for a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. Besides, it takes off dandruff, stops scalp itching and falling hair. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance.—Advertisement.

TWITCHELL TAKES OPTION ON MINE

Confident that the property owned by the Arizona Mohave Mines Development company has a great future, W. B. Twitchell yesterday took an option on the stock. The mine is in the Chloride district, and the directors have put in escrow the majority of the stock in the sum of $50,000 to be used for the development of the property.

Of the 1,500,000 shares, 1,000,000 will be placed on the market for financing the proposition. Five hundred and forty feet of tunnel work has been done and several shafts ranging from twenty to one hundred and twenty-six feet have been put down. There is a good showing of gold, lead and zinc, and the holders of the stock are expecting to make a good clean up on the property that is situated 5,000 feet south and on the same lode as the Tennessee.

The directors of the Arizona Mohave Mines Development company are State Auditor J. C. Callahan, president; County Treasurer George A. Macdonald, treasurer; C. R. Fome, secretary and J. K. Murphy, James T. Murphy, George Sears and Walter Bawner.
